

ALPS LINK: A Repository of Learning Objects for Librarians

Gordon Coleman
BC ELN Project Coordinator
WILU 37 - May 15, 2008

What is ALPS LINK?

- Library Instruction Knapsack
- “A repository of learning objects to support academic librarians in their instructional role.”
- What are learning objects (LO)?
- Librarians can search for objects, download them, use and adapt them for their own classes

Why a Learning Object repository?

- reduce duplication of effort
- better LO through building on the best practices of others
- professional development: exposure to a variety of teaching methods, approaches, styles

Contributing Institutions

LINK as a Community

- built on the existing ALPS community
- the potential community of users includes every BC post-secondary librarian, and wider afield
- small volunteer committee of leading agitators
- who can use LINK?

LINK as a Technology

- glomming together of several technologies
  - SOL*R repository
  - Web portal on BC ELN server
  - Blog feeds
  - Wiki for collaboration
  - Web 2.0-ey

Secrets of LINK's success

- built on an existing community
- creative promotional “campaigns” to encourage contribution and use
- pulling together many technologies

Challenges

- re-inventing the wheel is “faster”
- perfectionism
- longer term: agitator fatigue

Let a thousand repositories bloom

Why LINK is different than other repositories:

1. Focus
2. Existing community
3. Unique features of
SOL*R
4. Harvesting
