

Search

Issue contents

Page 1: Library co-operatives in Scotland | Page 2: HILT's terminology services

Mapping collaboration: library co-operatives in Scotland

Gordon Dunsire, Centre for Digital Library Research

Wendy Ball said in her article on The natural habitat of a professional community: an ELISA case study in the last issue of WIDWISAWN "there is a rich and varied burgeoning of regional initiatives on the Scottish LIS landscape at present ... these need to be recognised and recorded at national level so that they do not fall victim to habitat destruction but flourish under the innate Scottish culture of co-operation"

SLAINTE, "the website supporting individuals and organisations working within library and information services in Scotland" has taken up this challenge and produced a map identifying regional and national library co-operatives in Scotland.

Information & Libraries Scotland

home | about | submitting content | using SLAINTE | disclaimer | site map | accessibility
news | events | digital library | services | information

Library co-operatives in Scotland

Regional consortia

- Ayrshire Libraries Forum(ALF)
 East Ayrshire
 North Ayrshire
 South Ayrshire
- Edinburgh Libraries & Informatic
 Edinburgh City
- Glasgow Academic Libraries Toç
 Glasgow City
- Grampian Information
 Aberdeen City
 Aberdeenshire
 Highland
 Moray
- Libraries in Central Scotland (LiC
 Clackmannanshire
 Falkirk
 Stirling
- Tayside and Fife Library and Inf
 Angus
 Dundee City
 Fife
 Perth and Kinross