Identificadores bibliográficos

◆ Singularidad

Una cadena de caracteres representa a una sola entidad

ISSN 0326-7946 : Espacios (FFyL, UBA)

Giordanino (2010, p. 179)

Identificadores bibliográficos

◆ Resolución

El identificador es la entrada a un servicio que retorna una o más piezas de información actualizadas sobre la entidad identificada.

<http://eprints.rclis.org/handle/10760/14933>

doi: 10.1087/095315102753303634

Giordanino (2010, p. 179)

Identificadores bibliográficos

◆ Interoperabilidad

Permite usar un identificador en ámbitos distintos a la agencia de registro que lo asignó. Por ejemplo, un cliente compra un libro en una librería en línea usando el ISBN, sin necesidad de tener que consultar al editor que lo registró o a la agencia del país de edición.

ISBN 9789871240470

Giordanino (2010, p. 179)

Identificadores bibliográficos

◆ Persistencia

Exige que se mantenga la identificación indefinidamente. Puede considerarse “interoperabilidad a futuro”. Un identificador no puede ser reasignado a otro título o recurso de información.

Giordanino (2010, p. 179)

Identificadores bibliográficos

◆ DOI

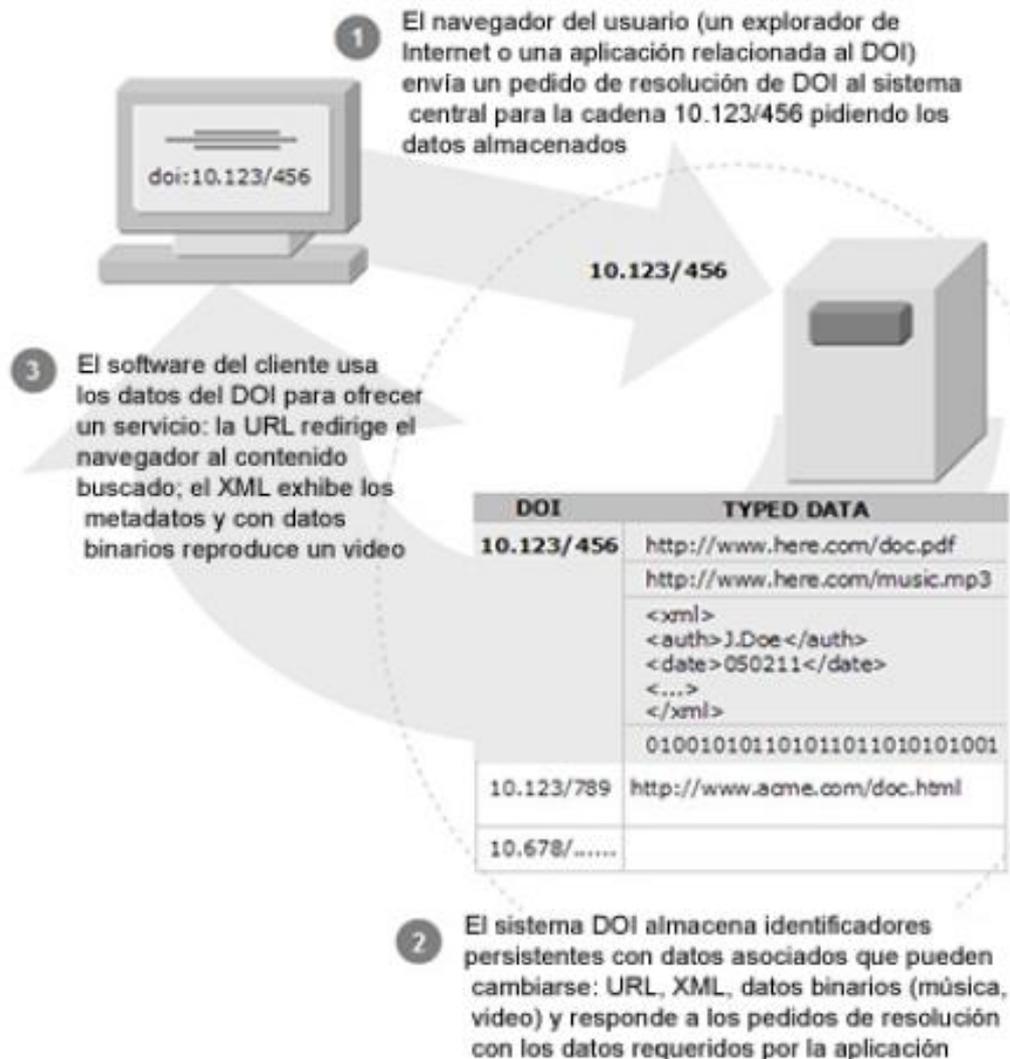

Identificador de Objetos Digitales

- ◆ Objeto digital: textos, libros, capítulos, artículos, imágenes, audio, video
- ◆ Es un código identificador de recursos digitales
- ◆ Es alfanumérico, persistente y permanente

Resumen: información hoy

The image is a screenshot of a YouTube video player. At the top left is the YouTube logo. To its right is a search bar containing the text "social media revolution 2 subtitulado español". Further right are buttons for "Buscar" and "Explora". Below the search bar, the video title "Social Media Revolution 2 (subtitulado español)" is displayed. Under the title, the channel name "elnezah" is shown, along with "23 vídeos" and a "Suscribirse" button. The video player itself shows a large, light-colored frame with the text "Is Social Media a Fad?" in bold black font, and "Or the biggest shift since the Industrial Revolution?" in blue font below it. At the bottom of the player, there is a progress bar showing "0:08 / 4:26", a volume icon, and a "CC" icon. Below the player, there are interaction buttons: "Me gusta", "Añadir a", "Compartir", and a "6101" view count. The entire interface is set against a dark teal background.

Online Ballot for 2011 Ratification Vote

The 2011 Delegate Assembly approved a constitutional amendment and a resolution. Neither action is final, however, since the MLA constitution requires a ratification vote in each instance. Members are therefore encouraged to review this year's ratification ballot, which is now available in the members-only area of the MLA Web site, and to exercise their right to vote. All members in good standing as of 15 April are eligible to vote. The ballot will remain available until 5:00 p.m. EDT on 1 June.

Language Enrollment Report Released

The MLA has released Enrollments in Languages Other Than English in United States Institutions of Higher Education, Fall 2009, a comprehensive report detailing enrollments in over two hundred languages taught in US colleges and universities. The survey report shows that language course enrollments have continued to grow over the past decade and are diversifying to include an increasingly broad range of languages.

Enrollments from the twenty-two surveys conducted between 1958 and 2009 are available in a new searchable database.

Chicago-Style Citation Quick Guide

The Chicago Manual of Style presents two basic documentation systems: (1) notes and bibliography and (2) author-date. Choosing between the two often depends on subject matter and the nature of sources cited, as each system is favored by different groups of scholars.

The notes and bibliography style is preferred by many in the humanities, including those in literature, history, and the arts. This style presents bibliographic information in notes and, often, a bibliography. It accommodates a variety of sources, including esoteric ones less appropriate to the author-date system.

The author-date system has long been used by those in the physical, natural, and social sciences. In this system, sources are briefly cited in the text, usually in parentheses, by author's last name and date of publication. The short citations are amplified in a list of references, where full bibliographic information is provided.

Aside from the use of notes versus parenthetical references in the text, the two systems share a similar style. Click on the tabs below to see some common examples of materials cited in each style, including examples of common electronic sources. For numerous specific examples, see chapters 14 and 15 of the 16th edition of The Chicago Manual of Style.

Notes and Bibliography: Sample Citations

The following examples illustrate citations using the notes and bibliography system. Examples of notes are followed by

Article in a print journal

In a note, list the specific page numbers consulted, if any. In the bibliography, list the page range for the whole article.

1. Joshua I. Weinstein, "The Market in Plato's Republic," Classical Philology 104 (2009): 440.

Article in an online journal

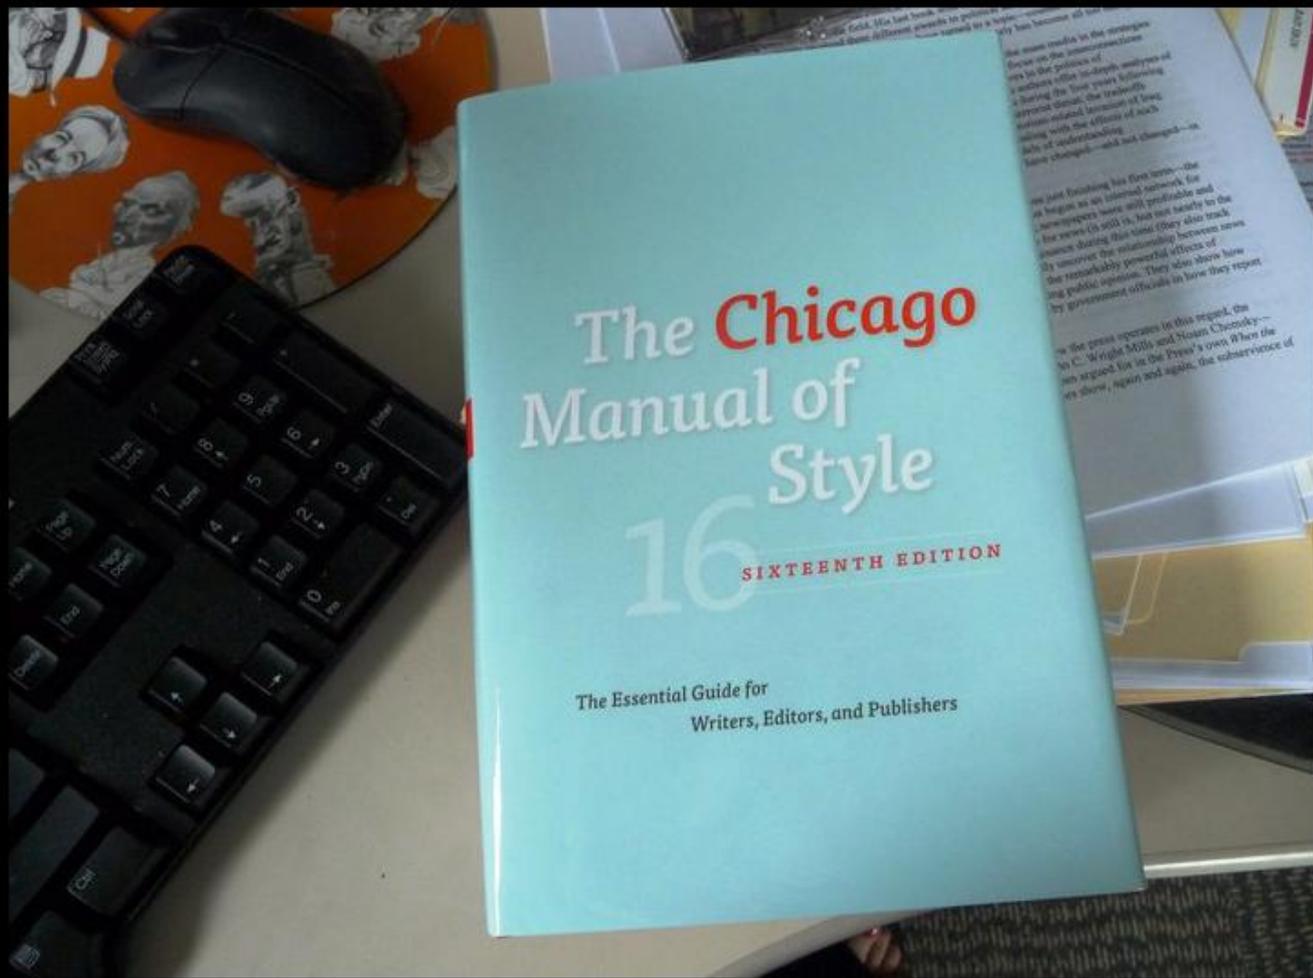

Include a DOI (Digital Object Identifier) if the journal lists one. A DOI is a permanent ID that, when appended to <http://dx.doi.org/> in the address bar of an Internet browser, will lead to the source. If no DOI is available, list a URL. Include an access date only if one is required by your publisher or discipline.

1. Gueorgi Kossinets and Duncan J. Watts, "Origins of Homophily in an Evolving Social Network," American Journal of Sociology 115 (2009): 411, accessed February 28, 2010, doi:10.1086/599247.

Article in a newspaper or popular magazine

Newspaper and magazine articles may be cited in running text ("As Sheryl Stolberg and Robert Pear noted in a New York Times article on February 27, 2010, . . .") instead of in a note, and they are commonly omitted from a bibliography. The following examples show the more formal versions of the citations. If you consulted the article online, include a URL; include an access date only if your publisher or discipline requires one. If no author is identified, begin the citation with the article title.
