...My grandma always said that God made libraries so that people didn't have any excuse to be stupid.

EBSCOhost Databases from Librarian’s Perspective

A Critical Approach
By Saša Madacki, Head Librarian
Human Rights Centre, University of Sarajevo
About Human Rights Centre Library

- Established 1996
- Till March 1999 traditional library
- Since March 1999 changing goal to LIBRARY WITHOUT WALLS
- From “Ptolemaic” to “Copernican” Library
Users and their needs

what do we really know about them?
From 1959 till now library users still want to:

- Get the information they desire
- At the time it is desired (not before or after)
- In order of importance
- With auxiliary information attached
- And indications of reliability attached
- And authority of the information source indicated
- Exert minimum effort to get the needed information

Does and How EBSCO fit in this?
Get the information they need

- User simply can contact librarian and ask for search - can be done in few minutes
- User can register at Library Administrator’s desk and perform search on his/her own after getting ID for access
- ACCESS TO MILLIONS OF RECORDS IS ENSURED
At the time it is desired

- Simple search can be done in 115 seconds (cca 2 minutes): 3.00 PM Search: Criminal law – 206 articles Full text – emailed to client - Client received information at 3:02 PM same day

- Complex Search: 3:00 PM Complex search: Rome or Roman in Title and Civilization in Abstract, located 200 articles, e-mailed 5. Total time needed: 2min 30 sec Client received information at 3:02:30 same day

BASED ON SIMPLE REQUEST!
In order of importance

- User contact 3:00 PM. Search 2 min 30 sec. Phone to user and agree with articles. Selection of titles: 20 minutes. Librarian on duty sending report to user at 3:22:30
- After 23 minutes user ready to use choosed articles.
With auxiliary information attached

- Cross references included
- Follow subject hyperlink - refined search
- Abstracts included
- Bibliography included in each article
- Sources of articles with copyright info attached
And indications of reliability attached

- Choose PEER REVIEWED Articles
- Choose Periodicals with reputation
- Contact librarian about reliability
- Reliable source ensured
And authority of the information source indicated

- Check top and bottom of each article in database
Exert minimum effort to get needed information

- Just try EBSCO at search.epnet.com
- You have to decide is this minimum efort ... We think it is...

Let’s money speak…

How much we saved, or how much we can earn with EBSCO through EI FL?

227,314,00 DEM

Or

116,273,00 €
Let’s money speak…Part 2

Imagine that you have asked New York Public Library to do this?

537.112,00 USD

Based on calculation: for research you have to pay $75.00 per hour. We calculated that every complex search was done in half an hour.
What our clients said to our librarians about EBSCO…

- Is really 15 articles in my Inbox?
- This is complete madness…
- I don’t believe you…
- Aha, and my grandmother is an astronaut!
- You can really do that, I mean without bribe?
- Is this “academic” invitation for dinner or what?
- I LOVE YOU
Everything looks nice but, is there any problem with EBSCO?
Yes, there is some...

- Bibliographic manager function have to be improved (i.e. ProCite .cfg files)
- Statistics module need more functions
- There is no subject search among periodical titles - you have that only in printed (PDF) form
- Technical Support Phone: (800) 758-5995 - 1-800 you can not reach if you are not in US
But..

- These are only my suggestions. Deputy Librarian said that he have no probs. He is simply in love with EBSCO...

Love between man and system. How touchy!
Anyway...

- Relationship between GOOD and BAD things is 98:2 - Nobody is perfect
- Just remember - There is no perfect system
- But...EBSCO tends to be
- Use this 98 GOOD thing and be happy librarian
