Overview

- IR and CRIS
- Swedish situation
- Norwegian situation
- Danish situation

IR and CRIS

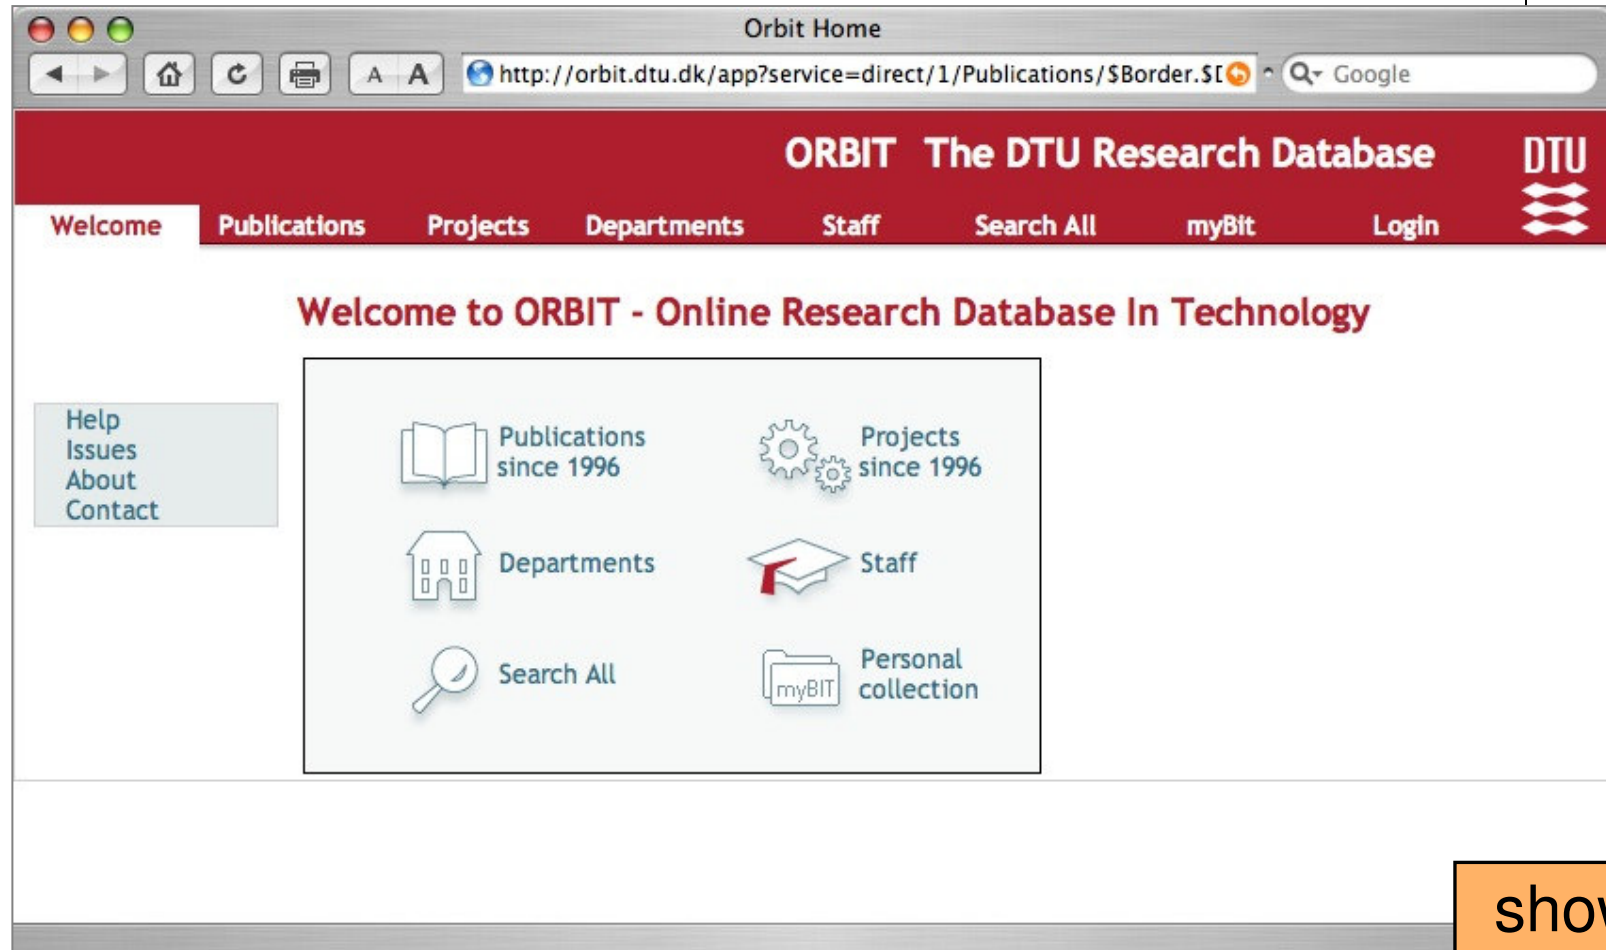

- IR - Institutional repositories
- CRIS - Current research information systems
 - Research documentation systems
 - Research databases
- Often different roots, actors and standards
- But actually part of the same story
 - The same researchers
 - The same publications
 - The same research
 - The same overhead costs

Sweden

- SVEP 2 Project
 - For the years 2006-7 and about to start
 - Increased focus on Open Access promotion
 - Expanding/supplementing national search portal to cover scholarly publications in general
 - Certification of Institutional Repositories

Norway

- A tale of 2 sisters
 - NORA - Norwegian Open Research Archives cross searching institutional repositories
 - Currently 3000+ publications from 6 OAI-compliant archives based on DSpace, Bibsys and DIVA
 - FRIDA - joint system for research results, information and documentation of research activities
 - Currently used by 5 universities each having their logical database on the system - which deals with results/publications, projects, persons/competences and other types of “annual report information”

Denmark

- ...The trend is clearly to combine the local CRIS and IR into one, using one of the two new systems, which comply with:
 - a new and expressive metadata exchange format
 - OAI-PMH for metadata harvesting to national portal
 - Fedora API-M for integration with the expected Danish generic repository framework for preservation
- A new Danish Research Database will be released this Spring, based on OAI and the new improved metadata
